Do you need a shipping container repair panel?

Running a business that involves shipping containers can come with a lot of obstacles. These obstacles will require a range of strong, reliable high quality shipping container products (for repair, and construction), such as shipping container repair panels, and other accessories like the ones we have in our inventory.

What is a container door seal?

Rubber gaskets or insulating strips on the edges of container doors . Function. Important: They are essential for maintaining a dry, clean and safe environment inside containers, especially when the weather changes. More info: Modern door seals are self-repairing, meaning small holes or tears are automatically repaired to maintain tightness.
