Is photovoltaic panel power generation a disguised pyramid scheme

Overview

Is community solar a pyramid scheme?

The answer is no! Community solar is not a pyramid scheme because it does not require participants to recruit new members to make money. Additionally, community solar provides tangible benefits to participants, such as saving money on electricity costs and having cleaner air and drinking water.

Is DC Solar a Ponzi scheme?

The plan had many of the hallmarks of a classic Ponzi scheme, but with a twist. DC Solar wouldn't just defraud new buyers to pay earlier ones. By holding itself out as a legitimate solar company, it would give all of them—new and old—cover to drain millions of dollars of tax credits from the U.S. Treasury.

Would DC Solar defraud new buyers?

DC Solar wouldn't just defraud new buyers to pay earlier ones. By holding itself out as a legitimate solar company, it would give all of them—new and old—cover to drain millions of dollars of tax credits from the U.S. Treasury. The American taxpayer, that is, would subsidize the scam.

Are solar panels a scam?

With that demand comes fierce competition within the solar panel market. Scams, schemes and straight-up fraud abound in the dark underbelly of an otherwise light-filled industry. While there are still many honest and reliable solar panel companies on the market, it can be hard to differentiate the good guys from the rest.

What is a pyramid scheme & how does it work?

A pyramid scheme is an unsustainable business model in which people are lured into an investment that promises quick, exceptional returns on the investment. The purpose of a pyramid scheme is to continuously recruit people into paying a monthly fee for “the opportunity”.

Did DC Solar defraud the American people?

Over eight years, in at least 34 deals, DC Solar had defrauded more than a dozen corporate customers out of almost $1 billion. Because those corporations had used the investment tax credit to deduct roughly that entire sum from their taxes, DC Solar had effectively robbed the American people.
